Welcome to learn about MMOG/LE Version 3

The MMOG/LE comprises a MP&L audit that is aligned with ISO/TS 16949. The goal of ISO/TS 16949 is the development of a quality management system that provides for continual improvement, emphasizing defect prevention and the reduction of variation and waste in the supply chain. MMOG/LE complements this goal, but with an emphasis on the MP&L management system.

The document is the result of a collaborative effort between work groups within Odette International Limited and the US based Automotive Industry Action Group (AIAG) to develop a single MP&L evaluation that can be used globally. The Global MMOG/LE was derived from the Odette Logistics Evaluation (OLE) and AIAG's Materials Management Operations Guideline (MMOG), which were both originally published in 1999.

MMOG/LE is used by many companies as a tool for evaluating new suppliers. It is also frequently used in existing customer/supplier relations as well as in connection with internal continuous improvements efforts.

Among automotive OEM:s and large suppliers with a considerable usage of MMOG/LE one could mention AB Volvo, Volvo Cars, FORD, PSA Peugeot Citroën, Renault, Chrysler, Robert Bosch, Johnson Controls, Valeo, Continental Automotive, Delphi och SNOP. MMOG/LE is also used in other business sectors.

MMOG/LE is now in use more or less all over the globe, at least where there is automotive industry activity. This is amongst others because MMOG/LE has become an important tool for developing supplier capabilities at "emerging markets".

MMOG/LE is available in 14 languages including:

English	French	German	Spanish	Portuguese
Chinese	Romanian	Czech	Russian	Turkish
Japanese	Slovene	Korean	Italian

What's new in MMOG/LE V3? Some examples:

- More definition and greater clarity for each of the criteria
- Providing visual tools to summarize the organization's current and future state
- Make the document more user-friendly
- Document Security

Training course focus

This training course is focusing on how to use MMOG/LE for self assessment. Various questions and criteria will be explained and related to each other. From experience we know that sending two persons from the same organization to the training course normally simplifies the internal adoption of MMOG/LE.

Welcome to an interesting training course!
